

Rather than being banned from the beach, early morning dog-walkers could be recruited to help clean up garbage on the beach. Below, Lola helps to sniff out a bunch of beer cans, bottles and broken glass on a recent July morning. The beaches are often badly and sadly littered in summer mornings.

